Explaining COVID-19 to children

Talking to younger children about COVID-19 can be challenging for parents. It is important to continue to educate children about the disease and how we can prevent the spread. These resources can be used to facilitate learning at home with parents:

Staying active at home

Family activity - cooking with kids and teenagers

Cooking with kids can encourage an interest in food, healthy eating habits and skills for life. Here are some ideas:

- Young children - washing fruit and vegetables, handing over utensils, counting and gathering ingredients.
- Older children - chopping/mashing fruit and vegetables, pack lunchboxes.
- Teenagers - introduce more creative recipes and ask them to plan a family meal.
